

Absolute transmission of a given air path [cm] as a function of energy [keV]

Look for the air path length in cm on the right and follow the curve to the working energy in keV on the x-axis below, read the absolute transmission on the y-axis to the left.